MINERS DEMAND SIX HOUR DAY, FIVE WORK DAY WEEK

DELEGATES ESPOUSE RADICAL IDEAS IN SPITE OF BEST ADVICE OF LEWIS

Repeatedly Warned That They Cannot Get The Backing Of The Public On Such A Program At This Time—Bituminous Wage Asked Is As At Present—Would Knock Out Differentials.

OFFICERS ALL AGAINST THE DEMANDS

Indianapolis, Feb. 19.—Renewal of the demand of union coal miners for a six-hour, five-day week, a proposal that was made before the 1919 strike was adopted Saturday by the convention of the United Mine Workers of America as a part of the policy the union will seek to have included in new wage agreements effective April 1. This demand had the united opposition of the union's leaders, including all district presidents.

The convention action for the shorter work, however, was the only radical change in the wage policy proposed by the union's scale committee, which centered the union's policy proposals toward retaining present basic wages for soft coal miners and gaining increase for anthracite workers under threats of a general strike. The strike and wage proposals by the committee were adopted by overwhelming votes. The strike declaration, however, provided for its submission to a referendum vote of the union membership before any walk-out is ordered by officials.

Override Committee
In declaring for the six-hour day the delegates overrode the committee recommendations for an eight-hour day underground and also voted down a proposal limiting actual work time to seven hours a day. Bitter criticism of the union's officers was made by delegates in urging adoption of the six-hour day, but several officials took the floor appealing for favorable action on the committee's eight hour demand.

Vice President Phillip Murray asked for the defeat of the six-hour day proposal so the union "can defend its demand before the American people," while Fred Mooney, secretary of the West Virginia district, declared that adoption of the six hour day meant suicide. John Hessler and Lee Hall, presidents of the Indiana and Ohio districts, respectively, also fought the six-hour proposal. But the delegates argued that the six-hour proposal meant more continuous work and called on the officers to "carry out our wishes."

Whether the six-hour day demand obtains for the anthracite districts was an unanswered question raised from the floor by a delegate who pointed out that the anthracite workers were not pressing the proposal. President John L. Lewis, replying to the question, said he was "able to advise the delegates as to the six-hour day as affecting anthracite workers."

Stiffen Up Demands
Aside from the action of the six-hour day the delegates also recorded an intention to stiffen up some of the minor demands recommended by the scale committee by submitting "demand" for recommendation where it appeared in the committee report.

Besides the work day wage proposals adopted by the convention its other demands as adopted included the following:

Removal of "inequitable differentials" in wages, which would result

Dry Agents Poisoned By Sampling Bad Whisky; One Seriously Affected

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 20.—Four prohibition agents are recovering from an illness due to drinking poison rum, in sampling liquor for evidence, it became known today. The most seriously affected is Agent Gough, who has been unable to eat any solid food for several days. The muscles of his throat are paralyzed and the inner lining of his mouth eaten raw from drinking the fiery concoction. The agents have been seeking evidence throughout the state and have been compelled to sample the liquor in order to procure same.

in increased wages in some fields; pay and one-half for overtime work; double pay for Sunday and holiday work; elimination of the automatic penalty clause of present agreements providing for firing miners or operators for violations of contracts; and all new contracts to obtain for two years, beginning April 1.

As soon as it completed the adoption of the scale demands the convention was ready to adjourn, but disorder broke out as an attempt was made to report the official vote by which the convention earlier in the day refused to consider the appeal of Alexander Howatt and other expelled Kansas miners for reinstatement in the union. The official vote, rejecting Howatt's appeal by a vote of 2,073 to 1,355, was read amid disorder, which subsided somewhat when Frank Farington, president of the Illinois miners and the anti-administration leader, announced that all Illinois delegates would hold a separate meeting here Monday afternoon.

TWO MEN PITCH TO STREET IN BATTLE OF GIRL—BOTH DIE

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 20.—Two men are dead today after a battle over the girl they loved. John Hussey, fiance of pretty Miss Irene Nolan, called on her last evening. He found John Horne, aged 65 in her company. Some one produced a bottle of moonshine and the men started a quarrel. They threw furniture at each other and then clinched and in the struggle both men lurched against a window. The glass in the window gave way and the men were precipitated to the street four stories below. Both were dead when picked up.

Columbia Students Do Battle In New York Hotel; Ten Arrested

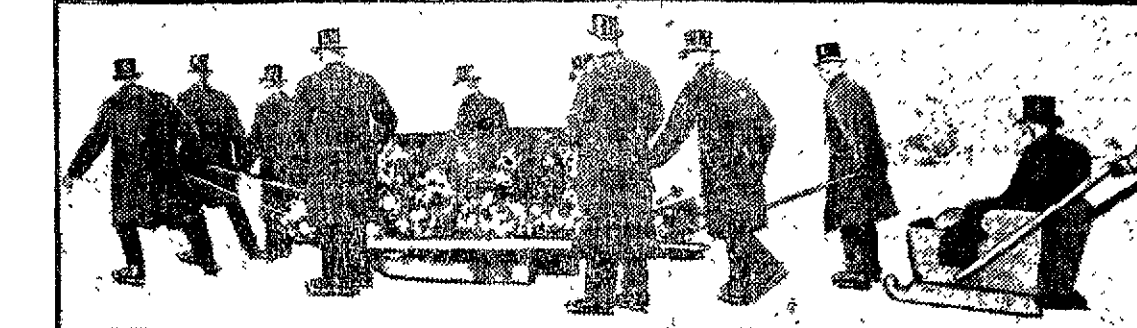

New York, N. Y., Feb. 20.—Freshmen, police and deputy sheriffs of Lindenbrook, L. I., were called out early today to break up a rough-and-tumble battle between Freshmen and Sophomores of Columbia University in a hotel there. Ten of the students were arrested. A dinner which the Freshmen attempted to hold was the cause of the battle. The Sophomores learned of the dinner and gathered around the inn where it was being held. A battle ensued and furniture was smashed, noses bloodied and eyes blackened.

FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD REPORT IS OPTIMISTIC IN TONE; IMPROVEMENT IN GENERAL CONDITIONS IS GRADUAL

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20.—The trend of general industrial and business conditions as it appears from the report of the Federal Reserve Board published today, points upward. This report, recognized as a barometer of industry, indicates that the bottom of the depression has been reached and tactfully predicts a gradual and substantial betterment.

BROTHER OBJECTOR TO SISTER'S SUITOR; SERIOUSLY INJURED

New York, N. Y., Feb. 20.—Alphonso Russo was shot and seriously wounded early today by his sister because he objected to her entertaining a suitor. According to police reports the sister, Lena, was arrested on a charge of felonious assault. Alphonso, a jeweler returned to his home shortly after midnight and met the suitor leaving the home. He upbraided his sister who rushed upstairs, procured a revolver and then returned and shot him.

HARDING MAKES HIS REPLY TO SENATE ON 4 POWER PACT

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20.—It is impossible to give to the Senate the informal conversation out of which the Four Power Pacific Treaty was evolved, President Harding today informed the Senate in reply to the Hitchcock resolution. In a brief letter to the Senate President Harding said that no records were kept of the conversation, which were purely informal. Even if there were records he would regard it as incompatible with public policies to reveal them. He said he could reassure the Senate, however, that there were no secret understandings of any sort. Just before President Harding's reply was received the Foreign Relations Committee voted a favorable report on the treaty with Japan on the Island of Yap and Pacific cable rights.

Organized Labor Will Attempt Alliance With Agricultural Bloc

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 20.—Representatives of organized labor and farmers laid plans here today to gain control of the United States. Coalition of the different groups around the United Farmers National Bloc formed here Saturday will be attempted, it was stated. Leaders predicted that an entire national ticket would be put in the field by 1924. Until that time candidates of other parties, if satisfactory will be given the support of the new party. If the candidates are unsatisfactory the party will put its own candidates in the field.

GREENSBURGER HELD FOR UNPROVOKED SHOOTING OF TWO

Greensburg, Pa., Feb. 20.—Mike Viccaro, aged 28, was being held in the Westmoreland County jail in connection with the shooting of two men in Trafford City last night. Ralph Boyle and Victor Nicely were standing on a street corner when Viccaro appeared and shot them without warning. The shooting was witnessed by several hundred persons who overpowered Viccaro and turned him over to the police.

BLAME BOOTLEGGERS FOR MYSTERIOUS SHOOTING

Stevensville, Ohio, Feb. 20.—The Police investigating the death of Frank Bacon, aged 35, whose body was found with four bullet wounds at Piney Fork, near here, are working on the theory that he was murdered by bootleggers seeking revenge for recent arrests.

George Work of Glen Campbell is ill with grippe at the home of his sister Mrs. C. A. Eile.

GRIT AND TALENT FACTORS IN LIFE OF FRANCES ALDA

Madame Frances Alda, the brilliant soprano, who will be heard in recital at the Driggs Theatre Monday evening, had a long and hard road to travel when she joined the Metropolitan Opera Company, but she has traveled it and has won out by sheer force of determination, grit and talent. Her record of successes with this great organization proves the range of her capabilities in roles of a varied character.

"Some of her performances have been remarkable," writes the well-known Mephisto, "I never remember a more charming and effective Desdemona, for instance, or a more delightful performance than she gave in 'The Merry Wives of Windsor.'"

Another authority on music whose fame is international writes: "I have heard every singer worth hearing in the last twenty years, but never do I recall so beautifully rounded a creation as that Madame Alda provided in her Roxane, which she made vocally superb, visually delightful, and dramatically convincing, in every way that is expected of one extraordinarily gifted and sincere."

Some of the leading roles she has been called upon to create and interpret at the Metropolitan during the last few seasons (in addition to an already extensive repertoire) are those in Puccini's "La Villa", Dambrosch-Henderson's "Cyano", Herbert's "Madelaine", Boreddini's "Prince Igor", Zandonai's "Francesco", Rabaud's "Marouf", Hadley's "Cleopatra", and revivals of "Othello" and "Falstaff."

BOMB WRECKS THREE HOMES
New Brunswick, N. J., Feb. 20.—Three houses were blown up by a bomb at Highland Park across the Raritan River near here today. The bomb exploded in the middle house. No one was injured.

AUTOISTS DEFY LAW IN RACING TO FIRE IN FOURTH WARD

A fire in the cellar at the home of John Pama at the lower end of Woodland road, about 10 o'clock this morning called the firemen out on a double quick. The streets were slippery as glass and the truck drivers had real jobs getting their machines to the scene of the fire without accident. Neighbors and passersby had the fire under control by the time the firemen arrived. Very little damage was done.

The hose truck of No. 1 Fire Co., came mighty near colliding with a freight train on the side track at the foot of Bigler avenue Hill. The train had the crossing closed and when the truck reached the curve below the Pennsylvania baggage room Leslie Smith, who was driving, saw he could not stop without a smashup and swung his machine into Bridge street. Lysie Smith, who ran out into the street to flag the approaching hose wagon when he saw the train on the crossing, was struck by the rear of the truck as it skidded in making the turn and was hurled about thirty feet by the force of the blow. He gathered himself up but was found to be quite badly bruised and shaken up and while not seriously hurt has since been confined to his home.

There is a State Law and a Borough Ordinance which covers the racing of automobiles to fires and requires that all vehicles must stop at the approach of fire apparatus but Clearfield people pay absolutely no attention to it, and as a result of this heedless defiance of the law and public safety several accidents were narrowly averted this morning.

Fourth Ward Pupils To Present Play At High School Auditorium

Tomorrow evening the pupils of the Fourth Ward school will "treat the boards" at the High School auditorium in a little drama entitled "The Mother Speaks."

The cast is composed entirely of the grade pupils of the school and the youthful dramatists are working hard to make this a banner performance. The proceeds will be used to buy equipment for the school.

YESTERDAY AT THE PRES- BYTERIAN CHURCH

Dr. Reeve preached the final sermon last evening of the series which has been drawing a large congregation to the Presbyterian Church. The subject was "If there were no Here-after." The object of these sermons was to deepen faith in the great underlying fundamentals of the christian faith. Next Sunday a sermon of like nature will be given. The fifteen minute musicals before the sermon will be continued. Go and enjoy these services.

Deputy Attorney General Swoope Speaks To Women of Philipsburg

Deputy Attorney General William I. Swoope, of Clearfield, addressed a recent meeting of the Business Women of Philipsburg and in its report of the meeting, the Philipsburg Ledger referred to Mr. Swoope's address as follows:

The main speaker of the day, Hon. W. I. Swoope, Deputy Attorney General, of Clearfield, was introduced. He gave a very interesting address which was greatly appreciated by all. Mr. Swoope said in part:—

The one really worthwhile business in the world today is to find out what we are here for and to find out what people really want. When people know what they want they get it. For my part, I believe that the great majority of us want to do the best we can. We want not only to shout Hallelujah on Sundays, but as the immortal Artemus said, to show our religion when we measure corn on week days as well. It has been truthfully remarked that we can perhaps better express our religion today in a stockholder's meeting than in a prayer meeting.

PLAN TO MAKE THE FISHER MEETING A REAL HUMMER

Early Reports From All
Over The County Show
There Will Be A Big Crowd Here Thursday.

COMMITTEE BUSY

Interest is mounting in the Fisher booster meeting that is to be held here on Thursday afternoon at The Driggs Theatre when admirers of the popular and efficient Banking Commissioner who is a neighbor Indiana countain will gather to pay their respects to him and join in the state wide appeal to him to accept the candidacy of his party for Governor of this state. This meeting was suggested after the people of his own county joined in such a call and neighboring towns and counties held enthusiastic meetings in his interest.

The DuBois Courier this morning says that the people of that city are showing keen interest in the meeting and hail with delight the prospect of a special train which will enable them to come over here.

The committee which has been formed to make plans for the meeting have been busy every minute for the last two days laying plans to make it the first real political mass meeting of the decade and are leaving nothing undone to make it a hummer. It is planned to have people come here from all parts of the county and present reports are that every hamlet in the county will be represented.

Speakers are being arranged for and in many instances there will be short talks by men who have heretofore taken little interest in politics but who now believe the time has come for every citizen to become interested.

The sentiment to have John S. Fisher, banking commissioner, run for governor, is growing steadily and seems destined to sweep the western part of the state, putting up such a demand as to be almost irresistible. It is reported that Mr. Fisher has some strong backing in the eastern end of the state, although he has not yet announced his candidacy.

PROGRESS ON STATE BUILDING CODE

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 20.—The second section of the revised building code of Pennsylvania, that imposing regulations for the building of residences, has been completed and will be sent to committee this week. It was announced at the Department of Labor and Industry here today.

"So, today I feel that I am speaking to people who want to be civic factors for righteousness in the community. It is time, says someone, for men to pray a standing up prayer to one another. The essence of all problems, in the church, in society, in business, in politics, is getting people to work together. It seems to me that the chief value of organizations such as this is that they bring you together in a common cause. It has been well said that the reason the trust succeeds is that it induces a large number of people to cooperate than an individual can. We who are not radicals are not in class Syndicalism but crowd Syndicalism. The class-war socialist wants to put society together by keeping people apart. We want to get all people to work together for good. The great thing in the world today is mutualism. We are optimists as to human nature. We believe that if people try, they can do almost anything.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By "Skinney"

In sentencing two fellows to pay $1000 fines for stealing two barrels of whiskey from a poor widow woman, Judge H. A. Fuller of Wilkesbarre, referred to the Volstead Act as follows: "The defendants directly violated the Volstead Act, that palladium of human happiness, stern subverter of human nature, extinguisher of human infirmities, promoter of human regeneration, and inexhaustible inspiration of human utterance."

The New York Herald in a recent issue, had the following to say regarding Pennsylvania weather conditions and prognosticators:— "The groundhog came out on February second and saw his shadow and went back. It was not merely a local appearance. Groundhogs all over the eastern end of the country emerged and withdrew as of one accord. In Ohio the groundhog that is the personal property of L. H. Dennis of the Marion Star, with which President Harding once was identified, indorsed the general groundhog verdict. He too emerged and he too retired."

With this semi-official confirmation there seemed nothing more to besaid. We were in for six weeks more of good hard winter. And now just when all the weather prophets were agreed that the matter was settled, along comes skipping flocks of grasshoppers out in Pennsylvania.

Clearfield and Greene Counties report large numbers of them. Snow is on the ground but that makes no difference. They hop, skip and jump over the snow covered fields as though it were hay time. Joseph Kirk, who lives near Clearfield in the central part of the state, caught many of them in his orchard. Silas Kuhn of Oak Crest, Greene County, in extreme southwest Pennsylvania, says hundreds of them are frisking over his snowclad farm.

The phenomenon has shaken the very foundations of Mr. Kughn's articles of weather prophet faith. He openly admits that from this time forth he is a groundhog free thinker, if not an out and out infidel. When it comes to a showdown between the groundhog and the grasshopper in long distance weather forecasting Mr. Kughn is backing the grasshopper. He doesn't believe we are in for a long spell of winter weather. He believes that we are going to have a warm February and a warm March. Otherwise how do you account for the grasshoppers going in for snowshoe excursions and tobogganing?

What Mr. Kughn is predicting is just what the fruit growers hereabouts are praying may not come to pass. Abnormally warm winter weather last year produced abnormally early fruit tree budding. Then came frost wiping out the fruit and berry crops and causing losses running into the millions of dollars. Fruit growers down in South New Jersey especially were hard hit. Some of them escaped bankruptcy and sheriff sales by narrow margins. Now they are hoping for continued cold weather. Today the trees are in fine condition. The rest they had from bearing last year brought to them renewed vigor. Barring untimely warm weather and untimely budding the promise of a fine fruit crop this year is of the best. And when the groundhog had done his duty and everything seemed snuggled down for a stretch of bud retarding cold, along came these Pennsylvania grasshoppers and all weather calculations are knocked galley west! Absolutely nothing is left to do now but to drift rudderless along and take the weather as it comes.

The Rev. George Smock, of Degolia, who is at the United Brethren church at that place, is doing five days in the McKean county jail because he refused to pay $2 and costs.

The Rev. Mr. Smock is a conscientious objector to compulsory vaccination, it is said, and has had some trouble with the Bradford township school district on this account. He has five children of school age, and while three are in school, two of them are not, as vaccinations made on them another section of the state, was pronounced unsuccessful by the medical examiner of the school district and therefore the children would be obliged to be vaccinated again, and were sent home from school.

James Monroe, aged 106 years was arrested at Jacksonville, Florida, the other day on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. The police magistrate gave the namesake of a former president a suspended sentence on account of his age, after warning him against drinking liquor, advising him to keep away from it as the habit might grow upon him.

Her First Love Affair. I experienced my first love affair when I was thirteen. I had a bicycle, on which I went for a ride with a neighbor boy, and he took quite a liking to me. So he called on me the next Sunday evening. I saw him coming, and slipped behind the door, not wanting to see him. My mother told him I was out, but would be back after a while. He leaned up against the door I was behind and stood there waiting for me to come. I stood it as long as I could, then stepped out from behind the door, exhausted. He never called again.—Chicago Journal.

Perfection as Moral Force. So it is that good taste also makes for perfection and works toward it, and is itself a moral force and influence. Perfection is perfection, whether it be in writing, painting or living. It is the goal of all human endeavor in every department of life. Civilization, whatever be its manifestation, is the result of a struggle for excellence, and a never-failing aspiration toward it.—Chicago Daily News.

Life. Life is a struggle, but not a warfare; it is a day's labor, but labor on God's earth, under the sun and stars with other laborers, where we may think and sing and rejoice as we work.—John Burroughs.

Remarkable Coincidence. Two women of St. Johnsbury, Vt., who were strangers until recently, have the same name and their birthdays are on the same day of the month. Both have little girls of the same age, whose names both begin with the same initial.

Why Solitude is Desirable. Solitude is the chief support of the affections. It would be impossible to love your fellow man if you knew you could never get away from him.—From the Atlantic Magazine.

When a Man Proposes. When a man asks a woman to marry him he pays her the greatest compliment a man can pay a woman, or else he needs the money.—Life.

Ah, There's the Rub. An opera singer says that no woman is worth loving until she is thirty. Maybe not; but how is one to tell when she is thirty?

YOUTHFUL HEIRESS GRANTED RIGHT TO MARRY MAX OSER

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 20.—The baby granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller has won the right to marry the man she loves, Max Oser, a Swiss groom of Zurich, who is thrice her age. Mathilde McCormick, aged 16, has persuaded her father Harold P. McCormick multimillionaire head of the International Harvester Company that her happiness depends upon her marriage with Max. Only one string is attached to the consent of her parents, Max Oser must quit his fatherland and come to America to live. This, it is said, was a concession to the world's richest man, John D. Rockefeller, the patriarch of the family, who has prided himself that fortune seeking men of Europe never married into his family.

Beneficial Joke. A wise man recently said: "I occasionally dine with a newly wed couple and whenever the young wife serves a dish prepared by herself, a tablet containing a drug which is supposed to aid digestion is served with it. Of course it is all done in fun, but we are always glad to help the little wife along by taking the tablet."—Boston Transcript.

Origin of Moon-Eyed. The expression "moon-eyed," as popularly used to describe an advanced stage of intoxication, had its origin in India, where a certain variety of drink taken in excess renders its victims blind from sunset to sunrise, or during the period that the moon is shining. The condition in extreme cases lasts as long as eighteen or nineteen days.

Popular Government. Popular government has been usually sought and won and valued not as a good thing in itself, but as a means of getting rid of tangible grievances or securing tangible benefits, and when those objects have been attained, the interest in it has generally tended to decline.—Lord Bryce.

Radiating Happiness. A happy man or woman is a better thing to find than a five-pound note. He or she is a radiating focus of good will, and their entrance into a room is as though another candle had been lighted.—Stevenson.

Love, the Leveler. There is one field in which the wise man and the fool meet on a common level. That is when they fall in love and take their pens in hand.—Oregon Journal.

Her Mother's Faith in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Led Her To Try It

Kenosha, Wisconsin.—"I cannot say enough in praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My mother had great faith in it as she had taken so much of it and when I had trouble after my baby was born she gave it to me. It helped me so much more than anything else had done that I advise all women with female trouble to give it a fair trial and I am sure they will feel as I do about it.—Mrs. FRED. P. HANSEN, 562 Symmonds St., Kenosha, Wisconsin.

A medicine that has been in use nearly fifty years and that receives the praise and commendation of mothers and grandmothers is worth your consideration.

If you are suffering from troubles that sometimes follow child-birth bear in mind that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a woman's medicine. It is especially adapted to correct such troubles.

The letters we publish ought to convince you; ask some of your women friends or neighbors—they know its worth. You will, too, if you give it a fair trial.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 18.—Fritz Krengle, New York jewelry salesman reported to police here today that his satchel containing $150,000 worth of diamonds was stolen from his berth on an Illinois Central train that left Chicago last night. He said he had the satchel when he retired but when he reached St. Louis the satchel and gems were missing.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 20.—Train dispatchers were stripped of over-time pay until the ninth hour has been worked. Eight hours remains the regular working day the Board ruled, but the regular rate of pay will be in force until nine hours have been worked.

Sow Has Adopted Kitten. A strange case of maternal devotion is reported by an Ontario farmer who has a sow with a litter that has adopted a half-grown kitten and permits it to nurse with her babies and to sleep with them. The kitten has been a member of the family of pigs for several days and will no longer touch cow's milk when offered it. At night the kitten curls up at the sow's side.

Happy Couple. Charles and his adopted mother lived all alone, and they were the best kind of pals. One morning at breakfast Charles, who had just passed his seventh birthday, reached over and patted his mother's hand, saying: "Say, mumma, I guess we're about the happiest couple in the world."

Washington, D. C., Feb. 18.—Major General Lansing H. Beach, Chief of Army Engineers, today asked Congress for an additional appropriation of $225,000 to make additional surveys for the Lake Erie Canal. The fund was to be divided between the physical survey of the Pittsburgh-Youngstown route and an economy survey of the Pittsburgh-Ashtabula route.

Niagara Falls Moving. The edge of Niagara falls is steadily moving backward toward Lake Erie, owing to the work of the water in cutting away the rock over which it falls. At the Horseshoe falls the recession is at an average rate of five feet a year. The American falls are retreating much less rapidly. Geologists estimate that it has taken from 20,000 to 35,000 years to cut the Niagara gorge.

Indians Thrived in the Cold. If the dwellers in eastern and central Canada find the severe cold of our brief periods of low temperatures somewhat a hardship, how was existence tolerable, even possible, to the Indians when they had to depend wholly upon themselves for even the bare means of subsistence? How did they get through the winter at all? The question is suggested when our conditions of life are contrasted with theirs.—Montreal Family Herald.

Beautiful Athens Gardens. The gardens in Athens, which were laid out by an Englishman some years ago, are very beautiful. Many plants which in this country flourish in greenhouses are to be found in profusion there. Violets border all the beds and bloom throughout the winter.

Blame It on the Girls. Mother love is wonderful, and we have no doubt that Bathsheba always felt, and told, that her boy, Solomon, would never have carried on the way he did if the girls hadn't dressed so immodestly.

Naturally Skeptical. The American father of two or three boys who are beginning to be interested in young ladies finds it hard to believe ancestor worship can exist anywhere in the world.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 20.—Republican members of the House Ways and Means Committee have decided to go ahead with the soldier bonus legislation, abandoning the suggestion that the bill be delayed until later in the session, chairman Fordney announced after a meeting today. It was understood that committee members have received assurances from those in charge of appropriations that a large sum will be saved by cutting down Army and Navy appropriations and that this can be counted upon as one source of revenue.

South African Locust Plague. Locusts in immense swarms which covered the permanent way and brought the engine to a standstill held up a train on the Graaff Reinet line, South Africa, for two hours. Passengers and officials, by sweeping steadily with improvised brooms for two hours, continued partially to clear the line to allow the journey being resumed. The insects were a couple of feet deep in places.

Pink Milk. If you are in doubt about the cream on your milk, add a tiny drop of spirits of salts. If the milk has been adulterated to give it a rich appearance, it will turn pink—and then you can turn the milkman pink by showing him how the trick is done! You can, by the way, also test your vinegar by the same method. If it is bogus vinegar a little spirits of salts will turn it a brilliant green.

THE NEW SPRING DRESSES ARE HERE

And such beauties as they are. Almost summery in their appearance, they bring with them the first breath of Spring, and you'll like every model being shown.

There's a sort of "fussiness" to all the designs that comes as a relief after several seasons of plainness, and when you have such materials as to choose from, you're bound to find something that pleases you. And the price is worthy of especial note—very reasonable.

FOOD LESSON No. 4

A Product of the Churn

The emblem of GOOD LUCK is the churn.

Not the old-style wooden one with the long-handled dasher; but a shining-white, immaculately-clean steel churn, into which flow the rich pasteurized full cream milk and food-oils which form the ingredients of GOOD LUCK.

Here they are churned together until perfect union is attained.

Skill and exactness are required in this operation. The perfect quality of Jelke GOOD LUCK reflects the perfect skill of the trained operative in charge.

You buy the wholesome product of the modern churn, operated by experts when you buy

JELKE GOOD LUCK MARGARINE

News of : Our Neighbors CURWENSVILLE

February has often been called the richest month on the calendar, because while the shortest, it contains the anniversary of so many great events, beginning with Abraham Lincoln's birthday, thence Valentine Day and then to our beloved George Washington. But it remained for the merchants of Curwensville to stage an event which will make you forget there ever was a war. They have chosen Saturday, February 25th as the day and propose to make it so memorable that it will go down in the annals of history as the day that helped to keep Curwensville on the map as the business world.

They have named the day, "Semi-Annual Dollar Day" and have adopted the slogan, "More goods for your dollar than ever before."

In an interview with the merchants they tell us that the bargains will be such as have never been heard of in this community. Not show-worn, out of date stuff, but fresh up to the minute goods, some they do not wish to carry into the spring season and will offer at a sacrifice, some purchased especially for this sale at even better than pre-war prices. Kantel's are preparing bargains in all departments. Shoes, dress goods, gingham, etc. Robinson's showed us several cases of shoes, bought especially for this event. They will also have on display the famous Perry Paige dresses for which they have secured the agency. Our hardware stores will participate with specials at $1 and decided discounts on many lines. Drug stores also share in remarkable values. Spencers have a wonderful line of gingham, specially priced along with bargains all over the store. The butcher, the baker, the candle stick maker, the cigar man, the furniture man, the shoe man, the grocer and the stationer all have bargains that will make you open your eyes and your pocketbooks. Everybody in the list except the preacher, and while we do not speak with authority we feel sure they also will be willing to participate. Don't forget the date, Saturday, February 25th, 1922. Let nothing interfere with your being on hand, prepared to take advantage of the wonderful bargains. Extra salespeople have been secured and no trouble will be experienced in handling the crowds.

The mother's meeting of the W. T. C. U. will be held at the home of Mrs. P. Della Gates, on Wednesday, February 22 at 2:30 P. M. A good attendance is desired.

Mrs. George Kittleberger is able to be out after a serious illness.

Mrs. Walter Williams has returned to her home in Wilmington after a pleasant visit with her sister, Mrs. Will Twigg on Iron Hill.

John Whittaker of Harrisburg, A. B. Whittaker of Clarksburg, W. Va. and Mrs. Chas. Leshar of Philadelphia were recent guests of their mother, Mrs. A. B. Whittaker on South Side.

T. J. La Boide and daughter Bernice went to Clearfield Saturday to spend the weekend with Mrs. LaBoide who is not yet able to be brought home.

Joe Hipps, Jr., came home to spend Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hipps on the South Side.

Luther Cleaver came down from Grapman and spent Saturday with his cousin Gilbert Woodside.

Mrs. Gertrude Parks has been quite ill with tonsillitis but is much improved at this time.

Lacking Human Sympathy

Asthma From Animals
It has been found that asthma is often caused by inhaling particles of the hair of animals, particularly that of the horse, the cat and the dog and above all of the pet dog that sleeps on the bed. PLUM PUDDINGS AND CAKES

THIS is the season when the plum pudding is enjoyed.

Little Plum Puddings
Pour one cupful of scalded milk over one pint of bread crumbs taken from the crust of a loaf of bread, when cold add three-fourths of a cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, the yolk of four eggs beaten in light, one-half pound of suet mixed with one-half cupful of chopped almonds, one-half pound of raisins, and one-half pound of seedless raisins. First add one-third of a teaspoonful each of cloves and nutmeg and one teaspoonful each of cinnamon and nutmeg, then fold in the whites of four eggs beaten stiff. Pour into buttered and floured molds and steam one hour. This recipe makes twelve little puddings. Serve with hard sauce.

Holly Cake
Cream one-half cupful of shortening and gradually one cupful of sugar. Two eggs beaten light, then add alternately one-half cupful of milk and one-half cupful of flour, stirred with two spoonfuls of baking powder. Lastly beat in two eggs, whites beaten stiff and one teaspoonful of vanilla. Bake in a full pan for forty minutes. Cover with boiled frosting and ornament with citron leaves and cinnamon berries.

Little Cakes
Cut small cakes from a sheet of pound cake. Beat the white of egg enough to make it liquid and mix it with a little sugar. Push over the surface of the cakes and allow them to stand until dry. The next day dip one at a time in fondant liquid and slip from the fork. Decorate with nuts and candies in both.

Fondant
This is the basis of all cream cakes. Cook two cupfuls of sugar and one-half cupful of water and when boiling begins wash down the sides of the pan to remove any grains that have formed. Cover and boil a few minutes. Now add one-fourth of a teaspoonful of cream of tartar and cook until a little dropped into cold water will make a soft ball. Set away to cool, then beat and knead until creamy. Set away in a buttered bowl covered with paper and let it stand for a day or two to ripen, then it is ready to use.

WHY— DO WE CLOSE OUR EYES WHEN WE SLEEP?

WE CANNOT sleep with our eyes open because to be asleep involves losing control of most of the functions of the body. When our body sleeps our brain sleeps also, providing we are sleeping soundly and completely. A part of the brain has the power to open our eyes—to lift the eyelids—and it is only by the action of this part of the brain, either consciously or unconsciously that our eyes remain open. When we stop exercising its power our eyes shut.

The action is similar to that which occurs when an electric power plant cuts off the power and the lights go out. We virtually turn off the power that keeps our eyes open and they shut. There is no connection between this action and the fact that we sleep lying down. This is done merely because the body demands complete rest and relaxation in order to secure the benefits of a sound sleep and complete relaxation is possible only when we are freed of the necessity of supporting any part of the body.

Ever Try This One?
A Frenchman has suggested that with a little training the soldier may be ambulatory to a certain degree. It is contended that with practice a body of soldiers with their arms and accoutrements could walk across a stream 90 feet wide by a single walking across to the other side with their arms over their heads.—Globe

"What's in a Name?" By MILDRED MARSHALL

Facts about your name, its history, meaning, whence it was derived, significance, your lucky day and lucky jewel.

NANCY

THE quality demure name of Nancy, which has come into great vogue in modern times, signifies grace. There was a period in her evolution, when Nancy fell into disrepute and was bestowed as a homely epithet upon cognomen, particularly indignant boys to rival communities. But Nancy's day has come, she is fashionable and exceedingly pleasant to pronounce.

Nancy's origin lies in the Hebrew Chanach, signifying mercy or grace and her earliest prominent forerunner was Hannah mother of Samuel. But Hannah is a Jewish name because of its aspirate initial so the process of evolution carried the original word through the successive steps of Anna, Anne and finally arrived at Nancy.

It seems curious that Ann was the forerunner of Nancy instead of being a continuation of the latter name, in fact it is one of the few such instances occurring in etymological records. Nannie, which is Nancy's diminutive is indigenous to Scotland though much used in England. Nancy is Anne in the former country.

France has many equivalents for Nancy and Ann—among them being Nanette, Nannon, Ninon, Ninette, Ninon and Milton. Nancy becomes Anna and Nannetta under Italian influence. There is even a Dutch form of Nancy—Nantje, and Nann and Ninnell are popular in Switzerland.

Amber is Nancy's talismanic gem. It is a medicinal stone which protects its wearer from danger and disease. Monday is her lucky day and seven her lucky number.

THE ROMANCE OF WORDS "FIASCO"

THIS word transplanted literally from the Italian where it means flask or bottle was adopted into English because of the fact that the Venetian glass blowers when they discovered a flaw in their beautiful bulbs would convert them in to ordinary flasks or "fiascos." This alteration from an expensive highly colored and extremely decorative bit of glassware to an everyday bottle applied to the figurative sense of the Italian and there came the fiasco of a singer or the fiasco of a man's career. Old-fashioned English travelers, having the word used in this connection to describe the original derivation took it for granted that it referred only to failure and used it in the connection.

A number of literary works published during the last part of the last century contain the word—but always printed either in quotation marks or in italics as an adjective.

Bebe Daniels is not only a star in the "movies," but she is regarded as a star at speeding her motorcar. She is one of the most prominent motion picture actresses of today. This is one of her latest pictures, in which she is wearing her riding habit, such as is worn in the warm countries.

PLUM PUDDINGS AND CAKES

THIS is the season when the plum pudding is enjoyed.

Little Plum Puddings.

Pour one cupful of scalded milk over one pint of bread crumbs taken from the center of a stale loaf of bread; when cool add three-fourths of a cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, the yolks of four eggs beaten until light, one-half pound of suet cut in small pieces, one-half pound of currants and one-half pound of seeded raisins; lastly, add one-third of a teaspoonful each of cloves and nutmeg and one teaspoonful of cinnamon and nutmeg, then fold in the whites of four eggs beaten stiff. Pour into buttered individual molds and steam one hour. This recipe makes twelve little puddings. Serve with hard sauce.

Holly Cake.

Cream one-half cupful of shortening; add gradually one cupful of sugar, two eggs yolks beaten light; then add alternately one-half cupful of milk and one and one-half cupfuls of flour, sifted with two teaspoonsful of baking powder. Lastly, beat in two egg whites, beaten stiff and one teaspoonful of vanilla. Bake in a tube pan for forty-five minutes. Cover with boiled frosting and ornament with citron leaves and cinnamon berries.

Little Cakes.

Cut small cakes from a sheet of pound cake. Beat the white of egg enough to make it liquid and mix it with a little sugar. Brush over the surface of the cakes and allow them to stand until dry. The next day dip on a fork into fondant, invert and slip from the fork. Decorate with nuts and candies or both.

Fondant.

This is the basis of all cream candies. Cook two cupfuls of sugar and one-half cupful of water and when boiling begins wash down the sides of the pan to remove any grains that have formed; cover and boil a few minutes. Now add one-fourth of a teaspoonful of cream of tartar and cook until a little dropped into cold water will make a soft ball. Set away to cool, then beat and knead until creamy. Set away in a buttered bowl covered with paper and let it stand for a day or two to ripen, then it is ready to use.

WHY—

DO WE CLOSE OUR EYES WHEN WE SLEEP?

WE CANNOT sleep with our eyes open because to be asleep involves losing control of most of the functions of the body. When our body sleeps, our brain sleeps also—providing we are sleeping soundly and completely. A part of the brain has the power to open our eyes—to lift the eyelids—and it is only by the action of this part of the brain, either consciously or unconsciously, that our eyes remain open. When we stop exercising its power, our eyes shut.

The action is similar to that which occurs when an electric power plant cuts off the power and the lights go out. We virtually turn off the power that keeps our eyes open and they shut. There is no connection between this action and the fact that we sleep lying down. This is done merely because the body demands complete rest and relaxation in order to secure the benefits of a sound sleep, and complete relaxation is possible only when we are freed of the necessity of supporting any part of the body.

Ever Try This One?

A Frenchman has suggested that with a little training the soldier may be amphibious to a certain degree. It is contended that with practice a body of soldiers with their arms and accoutrements could walk across a stream 50 feet wide by merely walking across on the bottom with the water over their heads.—Granite State News.

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

Facts about your name, its history, meaning, whence it was derived, significance, your lucky day and lucky jewel.

NANCY

THE quaintly demure name of Nancy, which has come into great vogue in modern times, signifies "grace." There was a period in her evolution, when Nancy fell into disuse, or was bestowed as a homely uninspired cognomen, particularly indignant to rural communities. But Nancy's day has come; she is fashionable and exceedingly pleasant to pronounce.

Nancy's origin lies in the Hebrew Chanannah, signifying "mercy or grace," and her earliest prominent forbear was Hannah, mother of Samuel. But Hannah is a harsh name because of its aspirate initial, so the process of evolution carried the original word through the successive steps of Anna, Anne and finally arrived at Nan.

It seems curious that Nan was the forerunner of Nancy instead of being a contraction of the latter name; indeed it is one of the few such instances occurring in etymological records. Nannie, which is Nancy's diminutive, is indigenous to Scotland, though much used in England. Nancy is Annet in the former country.

France has many equivalents for Nancy and Nan—among them being Nanette, Nanon, Ninon, Ninette, Ninon and Nilon. Nancy becomes Nanna and Ninetta under Italian influence. There is even a Dutch form of Nancy—Nantie, and Nann and Nannell are popular in Switzerland.

Amber is Nancy's talismanic gem. It is a medicinal stone which protects its wearer from danger and disease. Monday is her lucky day and seven her lucky number.

THE ROMANCE OF WORDS

"FIASCO"

THIS word, transplanted literally from the Italian, where it means flask or bottle, was adopted into English because of the fact that the Venetian glass-blowers, when they discovered a flaw in their beautiful bulbs, would convert them into ordinary flasks or "fiascos." This alteration from an expensive, highly-colored and extremely decorative bit of glassware to an every-day bottle appended to the imaginative sense of the Italians, and they commenced to apply the same word to the failure of an opera singer or the flapping of a note, crying, "Ola, ola fiasco." English travelers, hearing the word used in this connection, lost sight of the original derivation, took it for granted that it referred only to failure and used it in this connection.

A number of literary works, published during the early part of the last century, contain the word—but always printed either in quotation marks or italicized, as an indication that it was a foreign word. In some cases, however, it is printed in plain type, and then it is a sorrow to the language.

"HINKIE" HAINES IS TO BE ASSISTANT COACH AT STATE

State College, Pa., Feb. 19.—Henry L. Haines, more familiarly known as "Hinkie," has been appointed assistant football coach at Penn State to succeed R. C. Harlow, who is to become head coach at Colgate University. This announcement was made today by Hugo Besdek, director of Athletics at Penn State College, after he had received word from Haines that the latter would be glad to join the Penn State coaching staff.

Haines was graduated from Penn State last June and is essentially a product of the Berwick school of athletics, being a regular for two years in football, basketball and baseball. In each sport he was a pal of Glenn Killinger and they both rank among the few athletes who have won their varsity letters in three main sports. In his last year Haines was captain of the varsity nine. He entered Penn State in 1918 from Lebanon Valley College.

Seasoned Timber.
Experiments made by the United States forest service have demonstrated that thoroughly air-dried timber has about double the strength of green timber. Moreover, in order of necessity to apply preservative agents to timber, it must be first seasoned, because it is very difficult to inject preservatives into the green wood. The loss of weight by seasoned timber is quite surprising. Western pine loses half its weight after three to five months' seasoning.—Washington Star

There can be no possible objection to the concentration of American troops on the Mexican border, provided they stay on this side and are used for no purpose except that of defense. We are persuaded that for years past the situation in Mexico has been rendered worse by the constant plotting of American speculators on both sides of the border. These men are seldom at a loss to find Mexican desperadoes who, for a consideration, are willing not only to raise the standard of revolt, but also to cross the border and perpetrate depredations on Americans, the purpose being to provoke American intervention and bring about a war which, as their employers hope, would result in the invasion and subjugation of Mexico. Americans do not want another war until the present debt of twenty-four billion dollars has been paid. Nor do they want war with Mexico at any time.

The well-nigh universal desire of those who have saved some money to acquire more and to witness it accumulate more rapidly than the original nest egg was gained, is a trait of human nature that is taken advantage of by those who are intent upon indulging in speculative pursuits and of inducing others to risk their savings in the same way. That they are successful is evidenced by the fact that the dockets of the federal courts contain no less than 480 cases in which fake stock swindlers are involved. In these cases more than $14,000,000 has been taken from incautious and credulous investors. Attorney General Daugherty is credited with the declaration that in trying these cases alone it would take one judge, working twelve months a year, one million years to clean up the docket.

Declaring that the present method of appropriating state funds encourages efforts to coerce members of the State Legislature, State Banking Commissioner John S. Fisher, speaking Friday afternoon at the annual conference of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, Southwestern District, in Pittsburgh, urged the adoption of a budget system.

"While the measures are pending, every man has hanging over him a club to coerce his political conduct in the Legislature," Mr. Fisher said, after explaining the laws affecting the passage of appropriation measures. "It is not a fair or an honest proposition, but a question of dicker and trade, and is a crying evil," he continued. "We must get rid of the individual system of appropriation and treat the fiscal affairs of the state as a unified proposition by amending the constitution so as to provide for a budget that will draw the purse strings tighter and make someone responsible."

There is some agitation at the present time in favor of getting back to strict hickory discipline in our public schools. A good portion of the activities carried on in our schools is termed foolishness by these people, who have apparently forgotten the impulses of youth. Better let things alone. Youth demands a safety valve and if that necessary equipment can be provided in the schools there can be no damage. There is more than three r's in life and in the preparation for the duties of life. Let the school life give everything that it can and pupils will be kept in school and better fitted to fight life's battles.

The demand of the coal miners may be spelled "strike." It can bring no other result. The delegates would have done very well indeed to listen to the advice of the international officers who are more closely in touch with the business of the day and the temper of the American public.

How long is it going to take the people of Clearfield to learn that rushing to fires in cars is a direct violation of law and a thoughtless act which will sooner or later result in loss of life? Think of this the next time the first whistle sounds.

MOTHER TO AMERICAN LEGION

Madame Schumann-Holtek Continues Work of "The Greatest Organization in the World"

"To bring joy to the boys who so gloriously offered their lives as the price of which Madame Schumann-Holtek is now sixty years old has dedicated the remainder of her days. I took from a town in the Orient. She has plunged into the task of being a mother to the American Legion convinced she was the greatest organization in the world."

The role of mother has been Madame Schumann-Holtek's greatest success. And now with a son of her own and a million adopted sons, she finds as yet an outlet for her loving nature and her talent as in the war days when she spent much of her time in camps, sewing, working with her needle and spreading cheer.

"I have never been happier," said the great star who in spite of her years still has the grace and the color of youth.

SAM SOO HOO DIED FOR FLAG

Body of Patriotic Chinaman, Born and Educated in America, Sent to China for Burial

The last journey of Sam Soo Hoo killed in action in the Chuq valley is told by the American Legion Weekly.

Of Chinese parentage on both sides, but born and educated in San Francisco, Sam, when he became a young man, went to China and married there. Some day to return to America. When in 1917 news came that America had entered the war, Sam kissed his perplexed little bride and said, "I must go."

Time passed and a white cross stood over all that was mortal of Sam Soo Hoo. A Red Cross man came along and took a picture of the grave, sending it on to the widow, who vowed what it meant. And then a request came from relatives that the body be sent to China. So now, close by the Chinese gate just outside the south gate of Canton, in slender coffin with the remains of her husband, while draped in the flag of the country for which he died, he will be laid in the dust with his honored fathers.

ONLY OFFICER TO SURVIVE

Capt. Bert Rugh Saw All Fellow Commanders of His Battalion Fall in Battle

The only officer in his battalion to survive, Bert Rugh's military record reads like a chronicle of the tales of battle during the dark years of the war. His experiences with the Canadian army, however, are lost in his absorption in the business of putting up a $100,000 club house for Cedar Rapids (Ia.) post of the American Legion. This when completed probably will be recognized as the finest Legion home in the country.

Rugh began his military career as a buck private in Company C, Forty-ninth Iowa Volunteer Infantry, serving in China from April 1905 to May 1909. In 1914 he joined the Second Field Troop of the Canadian Engineers, went overseas and was promoted to a lieutenant. During the course of events, every other officer in the battalion met his death. Three of Rugh's buddies were killed in action, and in one attack Rugh was the only member of his company to come through alive.

Carrying On With the American Legion

Liberal (Kan.) post of the American Legion is building a swimming pool in the city park and digging holes for tree planting.

German women will be invited to join with the National Council of Women in next year's celebration of Armistice day under resolutions adopted in the council's annual session.

Rev. David Hutton, Vicar of Margate, England, recently tramped the country in "out of work" soldier and returned with the report that "it is almost impossible to even get an hour's work."

GETTING THE THING TUNED UP IS A TEDIOUS JOB

MRS. LUCINDA RECORDS DIES

Mrs. Lucinda Records died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. S. Hoover in Cooper township, Clearfield county, on Feb. 8, 1922, at 3 o'clock P. M.

The deceased, who was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Esleman, was born on the Oliver Moore place in Karthaus township this county 80 years ago. She was married to Henry Records August 14, 1862 and was the mother of nine children. Her husband died three years ago and she had been in failing health since that time. Her death was caused by pneumonia. "Grandma" as she was called by all who knew her was a good Christian, mother, always striving to do the right by everybody, and will be greatly missed in the community in which she lived.

She is survived by the following children: Mrs. John Hamlin and Mrs. Florence Gable of Kylestown; Mrs. Samuel Mann of Clearfield; Mrs. Michael Lavery of DuBois; Mrs. E. S. Hoyer, of Munson; Elmer and Walter Records in the West. One daughter, Mrs. William Hampton, of T. C. preceded her mother to the grave.

The funeral services were held on the 11th and interment made in Kylestown cemetery.

H. K. EASTMAN DEAD

Henry K. Eastman, pioneer woodsman, a Civil War veteran and for over a half century, a resident of Clearfield county, died Friday afternoon at his home at Lytleville, near Coalport, Clearfield county. He was aged 78, death resulting from diseases incident to his advanced years.

Mr. Eastman was a native of Maine, having spent a number of years in that state prior to coming to Clearfield county. He was employed during his life as a woodsman, retiring from this occupation several years ago due to ill health.

The deceased is survived by his wife at the home in Lytleville and one daughter, Mrs. William Heister, of Glyndon, this county. A sister also survives.

Mr. Eastman was a veteran of the Civil War, having served in a number of important battles during his service in the Union army.

Come and see "Our New Minister" We have him in the basement of St. Bonaventure Church at Grampian and will show him on Friday and Saturday, the 24th and 25th.

OLD RESIDENT DIES AT OSCEOLA

Mrs. Julia C. Gill died at the home of her son Charles G. Gill in Osceola on Sunday, Feb. 12th, 1922, of cancer and other complications, after a lingering illness.

The deceased, well advanced in years, was the widow of the late Josiah W. Gill, a well known Civil War veteran, who passed away on October 31st, 1906. She was a native of Lock Haven.

Mrs. Gill had for years been a highly esteemed resident of Madera, and only a little less than four years ago went to Osceola to make her home with her son, Charles. She was a devoted member of the Madera Methodist church and a woman of beautiful christian graces. A large circle of friends will mourn her death.

She is survived by three sons, Charles G. of Osceola; Lewis A. of Philipsburg, and Scott S. of Madera.

ARE YOU DRINKING ENOUGH PURE MILK?

Are you putting into your system as much as you're taking out? Look 'round you and see the chap who's slipping into his favorite soda fountain and getting a glass of milk—make it a chocolate milk if you will—but he's full of pep and doing a lot more work easier than you are if you're not drinking enough milk.

Milk was the original Nature food and is today. That's the best criterion that it's the food ideal whether you're healthy or run-down.

The SANDMAN STORY

SPELL OF THE OGRESS

ONE day when Peter, who was a shepherd, was tending his goats on the side of a mountain he noticed a bright flash of light which seemed to be on the very top of the mountain.

But, though he strained his eyes, he could not see anything but the flash of light, and he decided it must be the sun falling on a smooth bit of rock.

The next day the flash came from another place, and the next it had changed again until Peter could not feel easy until he discovered what it was that caused the bright flash.

So one day, after the sun went down, he began to climb the mountain, thinking he would be there when the sun came up and discover the cause and return before this goats had roamed far away.

To his surprise, he found that one of his goats was following him, and though he tried to drive it back, it continued to climb up after him.

By and by the sun came up and shone on the top of the mountain, and Peter saw a big white castle with a tower, which before he had thought was the very peak of the mountain.

From the window in the tower there came out a girl with long golden hair, and as the sun fell upon it she waved it back and forth, making bright flashes of light.

"There is Our Deliverer," He Said.

Peter knew then it was the beautiful golden hair that had thrown the flashes of light he had seen.

When the goat saw the girl and her golden hair it ran up the mountain so fast Peter could not keep up with it, but before they reached the top the girl had left the window and stood on the very top of the tower, waving her golden hair in the sunlight.

When Peter and the goat reached the top and were coming near to the white castle, up through the mountain arose huge heads covered with shaggy hair; then their shoulders appeared, and up they rose as if some one was pushing them from below.

A Lesson From the Ads.

The charm of color in advertisements makes one realize that the simple everyday recipes can be more tempting if placed in dishes of attractively contrasting colors and the table arranged in varying styles with fruit or a vase of flowers for a centerpiece. Not only do the colored advertisements tempt the eye, but one can learn innumerable new household and cookery ways and means from them.—American Cookery.

Sensitive Tobacco.

Havana tobacco is the most delicate and sensitive of any tobacco grown. You can test this by subjecting a box of Havana cigars to extremes of heat or cold, moisture or dryness. The best temperature for Havana cigars is 60 degrees Fahrenheit. You may get a box of a good brand and find it a failure. But before you condemn the brand be sure that it is not the fault of the dealer, says a tobacco expert.

Horrible Thought.

At the movies a film was on, showing the children trooping back to school after the holidays. Half a hundred tots were shown following the teacher into the building. Across the aisle a shrill voice piped up: "Mamma! Say, mamma, is that all one family?"

FIRE HAZARDS ARE DISCOVERED IN THE HOMES FOR AGED

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 20.—(United Press)—Dangerous and criminal fire hazards were discovered in many of the old people's homes by the State by the survey of all welfare institutions now being conducted by the Public Welfare Department, Dr. Baldy, head of the department, said today.

"Conditions of fire hazard in many of our old people's homes, especially some of the smaller ones, are utterly and criminally inexcusable," said Dr. Baldy.

"In one home we found 36 aged women maintained in a building from which there were no fire escapes of any kind. There were only three exits. In the hall there was one coil of hardened garden hose utterly useless and several fire extinguishers long since deteriorated.

"This is not an isolated case. In only one indicative one. In another home for old women we found wagon loads of sawdust piled in a bin less than one foot from the furnace. In another the cellar was literally filled with rubbish, scraps of wood, old rags, etc.

"In each case we have issued warnings, of course, and these improper conditions must be remedied immediately or we will bring suit against the authorities responsible.

"During our survey we have come upon a great number of small institutions which had never been listed before and which no one knew existed. We intend to regularize the conduct of every institution in the State."

Squaw Flower.

A variety of trillium is called squaw flower. It is also called bath-flower, birth-root and three-leaved nightshade. This dark trillium grows coarse and rank compared to the wake-robins. The blossoms are a dull red, with white stamens. The leaves are much larger than those of the painted trillium, though the general shape is the same—a diamond design.

Nut Got Name From Town.

A certain kind of nut grew in profusion in the town of Kustana, in Pontus, Asia Minor. It derived its name from that of the town, and was known in English as chestnut, in Russian kashan, in Bulgarian kesten, in Italian castagna, in French chataigne. All it will be needed, variations of the name of the town.

NO FOOL LIKE AN OLD FOOL IS TRUE IN THIS INSTANCE

Uniontown, Pa., Feb. 20. (United Press)—John Sullinger, aged 65 and ambitious, wanted to marry Lillian Tressler, 17. He obtained the father's consent and bought a fine house which he deeded to the Tresslers.

They planned a sumptuous wedding, but while talking over a proposed honeymoon, the 65 year old lover missed $800 which he carried in his vest pocket. While he searched the house from top to bottom, his intended father-in-law is alleged to have deposited $700 in a Dunbar bank while the girl fled to Boston.

President Washington's Deafness.

"Nor did his hearing remain entirely good. Mr. Lay noted, at one of the President's dinners in 1789 that 'he seemed in more good humor than I ever saw him, though he was so deaf that I believe he heard little of the conversation,' and three years later the President is reported as saying to Jefferson that he was sensible, too, of a decay in his hearing."—From "The True George Washington," by Paul Leicester Ford.

Lessons From Enemies.

Have Your Curtains Laundered to Measure.

Now that winter is over it is time to wash curtains. We wash curtains to measure.

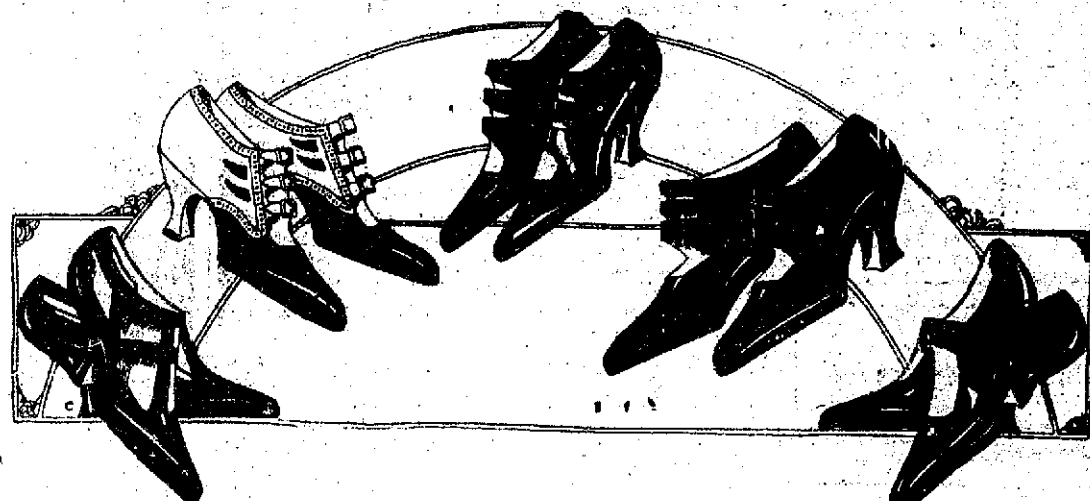

This is how we do it:

First we take their measure. Then we cleanse them in pure soft water and billowy suds until they are white and sweet, and finally we lay them, still damp, upon a remarkable new drying frame. This holds the curtains without any pins or hooks whatever, and dries them smoothly and daintily in exactly their original size.

You'll like this way of laundering curtains. Call us today and have us launder yours.

TOM SIMS SAYS

ARCHITECTURE WILL BE COURSE AT PENN STATE VERY SOON

In keeping with the desire to offer the best of instruction in every part of the institution, the Pennsylvania State College has renamed its engineering school department of Agricultural Engineering to "Architecture" and established a new course in that branch to be known as the course in architecture. At the same time the name of the department of Landscape Gardening was changed to "Landscape Architecture."

The new course in architecture aims to give Pennsylvania boys a thorough preparation for a professional career as architects by means of a balanced instruction in the practical and artistic phases of architecture. There has been a great demand for such training at Penn State, many applicants each year asking for instruction in architectural subjects. The course was introduced to meet the demand and was made possible by combining the new curriculum with the existing course in Architectural Engineering. Dean R. L. Sackett, of the engineering school, believes that in the coming period of reconstruction and building there will be a great demand for the well trained architect as well as for the architectural engineer. The course in Landscape Architecture is located as before in the agricultural school. In both instances the change of name will add to the professional career of graduates.

DEPUTY ATTORNEY GENERAL SWOOPE SPEAKS TO WOMEN

(Continued from Page One) they have a great opportunity for public service. We hope and expect that they will greatly improve the political situation. Women have always been the conservators of morality. I think we can say with truth that the vast majority of women have higher standards than the average man. In every home, it is the mother who sends the children to church and Sunday School. In every home, it is the mother who gives the children the moral instruction, which they never forget in after years. Our women voters can now apply these moral standards to their political conduct, and they can have not only the opportunity of voting, as the phrase is, for "the best man," but also for "the best woman."

Republican government rests on the virtue of the citizens. It cannot be justified on any other principle. The underlying idea is that the majority will vote as their conscience dictates. People may, of course, differ in opinion with each other, but no one differs with his own conscience. Every citizen who is worthy of the suffrage has a conscience, and knows very well how he should vote, although he may not always do it.

So all our social service, our community welfare, our political progress, all are up to the individual citizen. It is, then, for you, people of this town to make your city, your county, your state, what they ought to be. It is grit, grit and greenbacks that count.

If you want your city, your country, and your state to be better, you must fight for it. The forces of evil are fighting all the time. The forces of good too must be up and at it. We can all do something. It is well said that Satan trembles when he sees the weakest saint upon his knees. So the weakest saint need not despair. All he has to do is to try. He has not only his prayers but his vote. To pray for a little courage, a little strength, a little wisdom and use them all for the good cause.

If you want the laws enforced, you yourself should do it. If you know of a crime having been committed, it is your duty as a good citizen to go before the Justice of the Peace and make information against the offenders. You need not wait for a state policeman to come along and do this for you. Anyone, man, woman or child, who is old enough to take an oath is also old enough to make an information. We have all been horrified by the outbreak of crime all over our country. Everywhere is visible a contempt of the law, not only of one particular law, but of all laws. To remedy this evil, we must all help to enforce the law. We must not be content merely to observe it ourselves, but we must make an effort that other people observe it also. Each person can do his or her part in this.

Evenhanded justice, speedy and substantial, alike to poor and to rich, to high and to low, to black and to white, must be the imperative mandate that shall issue from every forum and from every fireside in the land.

We may talk much about the various leagues, the league of nations, the league to enforce peace, but no league is quite as necessary today to safeguard America's right, America's people, America's prosperity, as a league to enforce law fairly, fully and fearlessly, before God and man!

The case against Test and Fryberger, the Philipsburg young men charged with complicity in the Karthaus bank robbery, was taken up before Judge Bell this afternoon. A large number of Philipsburg people are in attendance at the trial.

THE RIGHT THING

RIGHT TIME
By MARY MARSHALL DUFFEE

WITH THE FORK

No rule is so general, which admits not some exceptions.—Robert Burton.

ABOUT the fork centers a good deal of controversy, and on this subject the well-bred English person always disagrees with the well-bred American who is as yet undisciplined by British notions. The Englishman insists that the fork, when used with the meat course, should never be taken from the left hand, and that it should be held always tines down; while the average well-bred American sees no harm in shifting it to his right hand when he is using it to convey food from his plate to his mouth, and in turning it tines upmost when he finds that most convenient. When he does this, the Britisher says he is using his fork like a shovel, and this to him is unpardonable.

The fact seems to be that the British mode is spreading, and that in many, if not most, boarding schools, where good manners are insisted on as much as French or English and rather more than arithmetic and geography, the British way with the fork is insisted upon. But remember that there is authority for both methods, and that many well-bred persons are none the less well bred because they cling to the American method.

But however you use your fork, see that you don't clutch it too greedily, and likewise see that you don't cram the fork with food with the aid of the knife. It is extremely awkward and bad manners to use the fork as a masher in eating potatoes and other vegetables. You should simply detach a bit of the potato by means of the tines of the fork, and carry this to the mouth without crushing it between the tines. Never put more on the fork than you can take in one mouthful. Some persons you know take a large morsel on the fork at once, and then take it in two mouthfuls at once. This is a small matter, but it is one of those little things that constitute bad table manners.

Never use the fork in order to reach for anything that is not on your own plate. If food is served to you on serving dishes, there should be service spoons or forks, and you should help yourself by means of these just as you would in your own home. If the bread plate is out of reach the very ill-mannered person sometimes reaches for it by means of his fork.

Some persons forget that when the fork is not actually in use conveying food to the mouth that it must be laid across the plate. It should not simply be laid with the prongs resting on the plate, much less should it be held in mid-air. Some persons, when they wish butter on potatoes or other vegetables, take it from their butter plates by means of the fork. If there is no butter knife, then the regular knife should be used. On no account should the fork be used for this purpose.

FORMER SOLDIER AN ARTIST

John Avardo Will Be Sent to Rome by Veterans' Bureau to Complete His Course.

Before the war John Avardo was a waiter in a restaurant in Baltimore, Md. Now he is a student of art, and, according to the American Legion at Washington, D. C., will be sent to Rome to complete his course.

While recovering from war injuries at a Baltimore hospital, Avardo displayed considerable skill in modeling clay. The Veterans' bureau became interested in the case, and sent him to an art school where he shortly afterward won first prize in a modeling contest. His growing ability has led the bureau to undertake to send him abroad.

Avardo is only one of a number of cases of rehabilitation in which men who before the war were driving trucks or pushing shovels have discovered their true talents in the course of being vocationalized. Men who previously had been content with unskilled labor are now attending classes in auto-mechanics, radio-work, drafting, machine design, agriculture, and various other trades and professions.

"WHEN WE SALUTE THE FLAG"

Toledo (O.) Boy Wins First Prize in Essay Contest Conducted by Buckeye Legion Post.

It took the thirteen-year-old son of a sailor to give the best reason for saluting the Stars and Stripes.

Mark Winchester of Toledo, O., received $15 for the work of his patriotic pen, winning first prize in the essay contest given by the American Legion post in Toledo.

"When we salute the flag," Mark wrote, "it is but an outward motion of the patriotic feeling within. It is not the mere physical movement that counts. It is what it signifies. When we salute the Stars and Stripes we show reverence for the flag that our forefathers made and preserved. It shows that we realize what the red, white and blue typifies."

A little Russian girl won the second prize. She said she liked to salute our flag because this country, unlike Russia, had so few pogroms and starving children.

EDITORIAL ON "CASH BONUS"

Chicago Newspaper Comments on Commander MacNider's Plan for Rotating Fund to Be Loaned.

"The soundest policy which has been offered with respect to a cash bonus" is the editorial comment of a Chicago paper on Hunford MacNider's plan for a rotating fund to be loaned out to needy ex-service men.

The editorial, in part, follows: "In many cases the bonus, distributed to all alike, will be given to men who are not in actual need of it, to some who do not need it at all. All degrees of financial competency were in the army. For other men the allotment will not be enough. They need more credit than that to recover. 'Men who have no need of a bonus could take it without scruple if they intended to place it in the fund. Men who have need of it could get it from the fund, pay it back when they could, and keep the money available for continuing relief.'"

"Over."

Mr. Jessaway was fussy about the correct use of the English language, too fussy perhaps, and was always ready to find fault with offenders. Also he was in anything but a good temper as he sat down in his favorite restaurant.

"Give me a steak," he said, "and some corn and some baked potatoes." "Baked potatoes are all over," said the girl.

"Oh, they're all over, huh," snorted Mr. Jessaway. "And what are they all over?"

"With," she replied simply.—American Legion Weekly.

Spot Removing.

One of the secrets of successful "spotting" or stain-removal is to have plenty of pad underneath the spot to absorb the liquid that is used to remove it, and to employ a circular motion, working from the outside toward the center of the spot in order to keep a ring from forming. Change the pad as it becomes soiled, and pat the spot gently until the cleaner evaporates. Certain spots with color in them, such as a black grease spot, come out more easily if turned face down on the pad so that the spot can be carried off without passing through the fabric.

Air-Carrying Spider.

The water spider (Argyroseta aquatica), though an air-breathing creature, spends nearly its whole existence in the water. It is enabled to breathe beneath the surface by means of a bubble of air, retained in the long hairs that cover the spider's abdomen. It also weaves a dome-shaped nest under water, attached to some plant, and fills it with air, which the spider carries down from the surface, a bubble at a time.

Henry Ward Beecher on Flowers.

The following is from Henry Ward Beecher's "Discourse on Flowers": "Flowers have an expression of countenance as have men or animals. Some seem to smile; some have a sad expression; some are pensive and diffident; others are plain, honest and upright."

Above All Others

That which, above all others, yields the Sweetest Smell in the Air is the Violet: Specially the White-Double-Violet, which comes twice a Year: About the middle of April, and about Bartholomew-tide. Next to that is the Muske-Rose.—Francis Bacon.

Arkansas Philosophy.

Some people seem to think that the boll weevils, hot-cas, bunns, crumps and old bachelors are a nuisance to any community. Judge remember that the Bible says: All things work together for good.—Nevada County Picayune.

Willie Willis.

Little Willie Willis says: "Dad is the best chum I got, an' sometimes I think I love him better'n a cher; but I don't think it when I get sick."

"THE DEADLINE"

In everything there is a so called "deadline", beyond which it is unsafe to go. Especially true is this regarding the care of the eyes. Neglect beyond a certain point is serious. Statistics prove that fully 70% of us have eye defects. Most of us don't realize it and accordingly are neglecting them. Know the condition of your eyes. My examination is scientific, accurate, thorough, honest.
